Killam Fellowship
Application Steps

First, visit the Killam website to determine the scope of the fellowship, the universities that are of interest to you, and your eligibility. http://www.fulbright.ca/programs/american-students.html

When you are ready to begin the application process, send your resume and unofficial transcripts to Dr. Kyle Mox (kyle.mox@asu.edu), Director of the Office of National Scholarship Advisement. You will be contacted to set up an appointment.

Once you have identified programs at three Canadian universities where you would like to study, you can begin drafting the application. Write a rough draft of your personal statement and send it via email to Dr. Mox as an attached .doc file. Be prepared to go through many drafts. Next, put together a draft of your complete résumé and email it to Dr. Mox.

Make your course selections for each of the three universities you have selected and take them to your academic advisor so he or she can sign off on them.

Take your proposal, the Killam reference form, and the letter offering guidelines for recommendation writers that you will receive from ONSA to the two people who will fill out the form and write your letters. The form and the letter of recommendation must be submitted to ONSA by the campus deadline. Your referees may give the form and letter to you—signed and sealed—for hand delivery, or they may submit the recommendation via campus or postal mail.

If you are planning to attend a French-language university, you will need to have the French language evaluation filled by a faculty member in French at ASU and sent to ONSA.

Fill out the application short answers and complete final revisions on your essays.

Submit your application! Bring or send to ONSA office by 5 pm on Wednesday, January 6, 2016:
